

Jon R. Jurgens & Associates, Inc. (JRJ&A), founded in 1977, is an award-winning architecture firm noted for its innovation and inventive design and planning services founded. JRJ&A's projects include the programming, planning and design of all types of new structures and their interiors; and the renovation, reuse and conservation of existing structures. The firm's major emphasis is healthcare, though they have long-term clients in the commercial and private residential sector.

JRJ&A's goal is to provide complete architectural services that meet the aesthetic, functional and financial requirements of our clients. The firm's work is known for its commitment to client satisfaction and an extraordinary aesthetic founded in a rigorous work ethic that is both intellectual and intuitive.

The firm's principal, associates and staff of architectural practitioners offer a broad range of related services. Their breadth and depth of skills and experience enable the practice to address a wide range of diverse projects including challenging sites, demanding budgets and time constraints, unusual technological requirements, and the integration of new construction with existing buildings and contexts. The firm brings to each project an in-house group of professionals experienced in design, programming, space planning, standards programs, site analysis, feasibility studies, project administration, cost control and code compliance.
